

ISSUE 26 • APRIL 2015

BRAESTONE life

REMARKABLE #19
The Paddocks

take me home, country roads.

As designer Ralph Lauren has discovered, few things so clearly define the culture of 'country' as horses, paddocks and fences – and Braestone has all three. When you drive down the quiet stretch of road to Braestone's main entrance, underneath the leafy canopies of century old trees, the paddocks sharply delineate where the outside world ends and the storied world of Braestone begins. Classically constructed of black-stained, post-and-plank cedar fencing, the paddocks and their adjoining equestrian fields will buffer the community from any possibility of future development and ensure that residents arriving home will forever enjoy a warm and welcoming "sense of arrival" to the community. The Paddocks...just one of the many remarkable aspects of living at Braestone.

the country estate, rethought.

Braestone is an award-winning community located on 566 acres in the Horseshoe Valley. Inspired by the farmhouses, barns and sheds of the Oro-Medonte region, Braestone's homesteads are an authentic reflection of refined country living with four seasons of outdoor activities at its doorstep. Hiking, skating, apple picking and maple sugar tapping are just a few of the many remarkable activities homeowners will experience living here. Oro-Medonte's last master-planned estate community is now selling. Preview pricing is being held over for a limited time, so call 705.727.5656 to reserve today.

FEATURED
FRIEND of the FARM

Stephanie Stone The Equestrian

Stephanie began her horse career in show-jumping and has combined her love of the sport with her passion for architecture by planning, designing and overseeing the construction of equine facilities. Stephanie continues to advise Braestone on "horse culture" and how that translates into the design detailing of the paddocks, barns and distinctive fencing you see at Braestone.

read more >

estate homes on minimum 100 ft. lots up to 330 ft. deep from the mid $400's to over $600,000

